School Communication

Dear Parents and Carers,

Following the very positive parental survey completed in February, and as part of our ongoing drive for continuous improvement and the further development of our strong partnership with parents, we would like to gather some additional information specifically about how we communicate with you.

School communication is multi-faceted. It can come from many different people, including the school office team, support staff, teachers and senior leaders. It can also take many different forms, such as face-to-face conversations, emails, ParentMail, Seesaw, letters and phone calls.

Communication can be about a wide range of things, including upcoming events, parents' evenings, workshops, performances, children's progress, what the children are learning in school, behaviour matters and much more.

Overall, 85% of parents either strongly agreed or agreed that communication at our school is good, which is a positive result. However, in line with our vision of being the best we can be and letting our light shine, we want to build on this and make our communication even better.

Our aim is to ensure that communication between home and school is clear, timely and helpful, so that parents feel well informed and confident in their partnership with us.

As a starting point, we have put together a short survey focused specifically on school communication. The feedback from this will help us review our current practice and, following this, we will develop a clear communication strategy for the school moving forward.

Thank you, as always, for your continued support and for taking the time to help us improve further.
